

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

Jane Doe

Name

07/21/19XX | Pretoria, South Africa | 2:22 am (2:22)

Birth Information (mm/dd/yyyy | city/state or city/country | time of birth)

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

Energy Point	Symbol	Key Words	Meaning
Sun		Primary Drive	Energy of Life
Moon		Soul Path	Feelings in Life
Mercury		Way of Communicating	Intellect in Life
Venus		Way of Relating	Connection to Others in Life
Mars		Way of Wanting	Desire in Life
Jupiter		Way of Expanding	Exploration in Life
Saturn		Way of Accomplishing	Structure and Limitations in Life
Uranus		Way of Awakening	Epiphanies in Life
Neptune		Way of Surrendering and Dreaming	Mystery in Life
Pluto		Way of Transforming	Chaos of Life
Chiron		Way of Wounding and Healing	Struggle of Life
Ceres		Way of Gathering	Necessities of Life
Juno		Way of Sacrificing (Duty)	Responsibilities to Others in Life
Vesta		Way of Hearth and Home	Place of Sanctuary in Life
North Node		Way of Soul Growth	Purpose in Life
South Node		Way of the Worn Path	Habits to Release in Life
Ascendant		Way of Presenting	What You Offer Others in Life
Descendant		Way of Partnering	What You Need from Others in Life

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

INTERPRETATIONS – Based on Sign/House/Aspects

These are not “canned” explanations based on simple data of sign and house, but rather organic interpretations based on professional review of the whole chart.

SUN (the Self/Life Path):

Your life path unfolds as a healing communicator who relies on mastery of knowledge that is tied to a duty or commitment to spiritual insight that you access to serve your community. You need to be able to establish reliable boundaries as you have past lives where you gave too much to community and were helpful to others to your own detriment. You will continually negotiate between analytical fairness and emotional nurturing.

MOON (the Inner Self/Soul):

Your soul path seeks fairness and uses analysis as a tool of service to help others for your material gain in your day-to-day work. This energy is tied to your spiritual growth as a “shining star” and the energy should be based on your individual gifts rather than what other experts and institutions offer about the same knowledge or how they recommend using the skills. You can be especially guided to help people navigate difficulties in their various relationships.

ASCENDANT (the Encountered Self/What You Show):

You bring stability and grounding (foundation) to your relationships. You have stabilizing and persistent energy that helps others grow and expand, like fertile soil. You make any place you occupy for a length of time into a home.

DESCENDANT (the Seeking Self/What You Need from Others):

You seek intense and transformative partners who know how to navigate deep emotional waters or express/project power out into the world. You can make powerful people more powerful.

MERCURY (Your Way of Communicating):

You are deeply in tune with the emotional matrix of your life and everyone around you. Your intense sensitivity is especially attuned to intense spiritual matters in various kinds of relationships (friendship, romance, and family) and the wounds people experience from their community and culture. You have a gift to guide people to practical and creative solutions.

VENUS (Who You Attract and Are Attracted To):

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

You have a playful and inquisitive way of relating to others that can be a very helpful and reliable way to get your needs met with the willing and generous help of people who get to know you. An element of critical observation that informs all your interactions can challenge partners, friends, and romances without overwhelming or breaking them.

MARS (How You are Driven/How You Express Your Desire):

Your passion is playful and enjoys giving and receiving physical touch, especially sensual or sexual contact. But intimacy needs considerable mental stimulation as well as physical stimulation. You prefer not to rush or be rushed and want the best from your many and various experiences and pursuits.

JUPITER (How You Shine and Expand):

You expand through an unconventional profession and in a potentially indirect way, not as a direct leader, but by affecting powerful community leaders and business people. You are a deep well that feeds water over a great area but has a limited access point.

SATURN (How You Structure Yourself and Take Responsibility):

You satisfy your safety urge by becoming a master of a body of knowledge or wisdom (or several) that others will compensate you well for, once they learn of your skill and wisdom. This energy expresses from a very personal, identity driven place that can challenge some of the strong, selfless nurturing energy you can too easily offer to others.

CHIRON (Your Wound to Heal):

Your wounding and healing energy is tied to the spiritual and emotional needs of your community and the world at large. You can see deeply into the trouble and trauma of relationships and give voice to others' pain and need for healing. This energy guides you to offer practical wisdom to people's problems.

CERES (How You are Nourished):

You are nourished by the home you create, sustain, and increase. Ceres merges with Vesta and your Ascendant, so your identity is bound up in the home and the home you make with your partner and family. The stronger the "walls", the deeper the "roots", the richer the "soil", the more nourished you will feel. Debt, financial instability, general persistent chaos are extremely unpleasant and uncomfortable for you and will not be tolerated.

VESTA (How You Feel and Make Home):

Your home is your foundation and a foundation for others. The home is you and you are the home. It also needs to reflect your unique personal vision, which may struggle to manifest due to very real limits in time or expenses or availability of the resources you prefer (and your unwillingness to settle/compromise).

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

JUNO (How You Commit/Your Pattern of Interaction and Duty):

You feel a strong sense of duty to the wider world and your community, and when people get wind of your nurturing energy they quickly want to attach and find you available for them. Even so, setting clear boundaries and promoting yourself selfishly are needed to prevent being taken advantage of on a regular basis as part of a karmic pattern.

NORTH NODE (Your Spiritual Stretch Goal):

You are striving to be the heroine of your journey and shine forth in the world because of your individual accomplishments. Learning to be the leader of your family will also be part of your significant spiritual growth. You have chosen for the family experience to be revolutionary, unconventional, and boundary breaking. You receive support in your efforts by having a strong sense of fairness and the ability to analyze situations and people rather than be swept up in emotions. Your natural desire to be a supportive partner can hamper the natural flow of this energy without staunching it. You will need a partner that wants to see you shine in what you seek most to put out into the world.

SOUTH NODE (Your Spiritual Burden and Comfort Zone):

Everyone wants to be your friend and have you as a part of their community because you are someone that makes any group better, more interesting, and more dynamic. However, these involvements will often take you off course and trap your energy, which has other, better, and more important work that is supposed to be put out into the world individually. Your best strategy to move away from this “habit” is to visit, but not join organizations and institutions. Your naturally helpful and nurturing life path energy will respond quickly to any expressed need and you may find yourself deep in a situation before you fully understand what a group or organization is wanting from you, which will always be more than you want or should give. The same fairness energy that helps with your North Node also helps with your South. Once you realize that involvement in a group is going to drain you, you can exit gracefully and without hard feelings from the group or institution.

URANUS (How You are Awakened and Awaken Others):

You express your freedom urge through your creativity and awaken yourself and others through your creative actions and creations, which are tied to your spiritual stretch goal in this life time (which is to stand out and be a “star”). You are here to break boundaries in areas that are considered “out-of-bounds” already and to do so because it is you alone who can (and not as a product of an institution or member of a group).

NEPTUNE (Your Spirituality and Personal Mystery):

Astrological Relationship Assessment

Based on your Birth Chart

Philip Young, PhD

You are part of a generation whose spiritual work is tied to profound transformation. For you this work will take place in relationships as the transforming partner. You will likely find yourself “called” to help people through significant emotional change.

PLUTO (How You Transform and Invite Others to Transform You):

You are part of a generation who brings change through practical efforts which show up in the expression of your creativity. Working in some practical problem-solving way will help you in your role as a healer for your community. You will be quite passionate about creative work, your own and the work of others. You likely have strong, and particular, tastes.